From the south, the fires would begin.
Moving slowly
upwards from the southern tip of the continent; the first city to fall would be Trinsic. Nothing the great paladins can do
shall halt the onslaught, as the flames move
northwards to Britain,
engulfing it in hate
and rage. Moonglow
next would be struck,
the Keepers of the Lyceum, hangin
thier head in utter dismay, watch as thier city is ravaged
by war and death;
working togeather in a
gruesome dance.
From with shall the sky finaly blosem as the flames move
onwards, enveloping Dagger isle, and
melting it, causing the oceans to swell and flood the lands, Britannia, that once
was, shall shrink.
The populace of Sosaria, shall be forced to co-exist
closer than ever before, and shall finaly turn and
destroy itself.
Pestilence shall rule
all.
